Building Fire at Vitro Architectural Glass

Cumberland County, PA – The fire department was dispatched at 10:26 a.m. to Vitro Architectural Glass, 400 Park Dr., Carlisle (South Middleton Township).

According to Teal Gaylord, Human Resources Director of Vitro Architectural Glass, “A glass leak was discovered on one of the two glass melting furnaces at Vitro’s Float Glass Plant near Carlisle. The fire department responded and no injuries have been reported. The extent of the damage is not yet known. Company officials are assessing the situation and will have more information when it is available.”

All employees at the facility have been accounted for. Currently, no community evacuations are occurring.

The three-alarm fire is currently contained. In addition to Cumberland, units have also been dispatched from Adams, Dauphin, Franklin, Perry and York counties.

Vitro Architectural Glass manufactures architectural plate glass for building construction applications.

An update will be provided at 3 p.m.
