Commissioners Appeal to Area Businesses For Supplies To Help First Responders

Carlisle, PA – The Cumberland County Board of Commissioners is calling on businesses with access to medical equipment and supplies, or the ability to produce them, to donate to our first responders throughout the county.

Any businesses or facilities that are willing to donate medical, health-related equipment, and supplies such as masks, gloves, gowns or hand sanitizer for use by first responders should contact the Department of Public Safety at eoc@ccpa.net to help coordinate the effort.

“Our Department of Public Safety is on the front lines helping protect our residents and first responders during this pandemic,” said Cumberland County Commissioner Gary Eichelberger. “They are in need of these supplies to keep our first responders safe when assisting our residents during emergencies.”

The Cumberland County Commissioners thank all business owners who have already reached out with their offers of assistance.
