Cumberland County Library System Launches Mobile App

Mechanicsburg, PA – The Cumberland County Library System today announced the launch Library2Go, a new mobile app for residents who are patrons of the seven libraries across the county.

With the new app, it's now possible to browse the library's collections, place a hold, renew items, view program schedules, get library hours, access key areas of the website, and scan UPC codes to see if the Library System owns a particular book.

"This innovative technology provides a contactless way to interact with the library. It uses a mobile-friendly catalog interface and puts our best electronic features all in one place," said Carolyn Blatchley, executive director for the library system. "The app is not intended to replace our buildings or the website, but rather a way to have all the library information right at your fingertips. It's a library-to-go."

Although some of the library buildings are still closed to in-person services, the app will help patrons continue to access collections and services in a user-friendly way. Patrons can download the Library System's new app by going to the Android or Apple app Store and searching for "Cumberland County Libraries PA" on their smart device.

The Cumberland County Library System consists of seven federated local libraries, one branch facility, a system headquarters office, and an associated non-profit foundation. Member libraries include Amelia Givin Library in Mt. Holly Springs, Bosler Memorial Library in Carlisle, Cleve J. Fredricksen Library in Camp Hill, Coy Public Library of Shippensburg, East Pennsboro Branch Library in Enola, John Graham Library in Newville, Joseph T. Simpson Library in Mechanicsburg, and New Cumberland Public Library.
